The Falls Councilman Goes Free.

Annexation Problem Is a Puzzler

To the County Commissioners --In Hot Water,

Whichever Way They Turn--General Court News.

Dwight Shumway, the Cuyahoga Falls councilman, who, it is alleged, is guilty of misconduct in office appeared before Probate Judge Anderson Friday morning. He was accompanied by his attorneys, S. C. Miller and E. C. Housel.

The defense filed a motion for a dismissal of the case upon the grounds that the complaint was not properly sworn to. Judge Anderson overruled the motion. Mr. Shumway's attorneys then asked for more time, stating that they would file a demurrer. The case was continued until Saturday afternoon.

Will Not Proceed.

On motion of Solicitor Emory A. Prior, the proceedings against Councilman Shumway, charging him with misconduct in office, were dismissed by Judge Anderson this afternoon. It is understood that no further action will be taken.

Hard Problem.

The County Commissioners met Friday and viewed the South street bridge, which has been condemned as unsafe. Relative to the much discussed annexation question Mr. Brewster said: "We may today give some attention to the various petitions and remonstrances that have been filed with us, but no final disposition will be made of the mat-

CLEW

To the Whereabouts

Of Murderer Wade, Has the Sheriff.

Was Seen by a Friend In Leavittsburg.

No Doubt But Murder Was Premeditated.

Body of Murdered Man Buried Today.

It is believed that Sheriff Frank Kelley has a clue in the Turner murder case. Mr. Kelly left Akron Thursday evening and has not yet returned. It is thought that he is after Joe Wade, colored murderer of Joe Turner.

A DEMOCRAT reporter learned Friday morning that a man who knows Wade saw him in Leavittsburg Wednesday on a freight train. This information was reported to Sheriff Kelly.

Before leaving Akron the sheriff held a consultation with Mrs. Fanny Turner, the wife of the murdered man, and James Marshall, a colored laborer, who was intimately acquainted with both Turner and Wade. This meeting developed the fact that there had been some "bad blood" between the two negroes. Wade told Marshall a week ago that he would "get even" with the man who had stolen his money and it is no secret that he suspected Turner. Mrs. Turner admitted to the officers Thursday that her husband had had some trouble with Wade about an alleged robbery.

Coupling this fact with the statement of John Scott, another colored workman, that the day of the murder Wade had told him that he would not work the next day and that he drew his money from his employer before going to Kent Tuesday night, tends to show that Wade had brooded over his troubles and premeditated the murder of Turner. Detective Burlison is still at work

RODE

In the New Patrol.

Successful Test of the Automobile.

It Can Cover 18 Miles an Hour.

Weights 2,300 Pounds--Develops Sixteen Horse-power.

Commissioners Think It Will be a Good Investment.

Akron leads, other cities follow. At 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon the first automobile patrol in the United States was given a trial on the streets of Akron, and worked perfectly, except for a slight rubbing of the rear wheels against the body of the vehicle, which can be altered very easily.

Mechanical Engineer F. F. Loomis "drove" the horseless patrol from the Central engine house, south on High to Exchange, to Main, south to Thornton st., and back over the same route. The "prisoners" were City Commissioners McGarry, McMillen, Crisp and Paige, Chief of Police Harrison, Police Prosecutor C. C. Benner, Fred C. Collins, a DEMOCRAT reporter and six others, making a total of 14.

The patrol traveled very satisfactorily and hundreds of people were attracted by its appearance. Along the streets people were porches and looking through windows.

For a short time during the trial the occupants were frightened. It was coming down the grade on Main st., beginning at Cross st., the steering wheel worked very easily and when Mr. Loomis was about to put on more power it darted for a telegraph pole.

Mr. Loomis was equal to the emergency, however, and guided the patrol so that no damage was done to it. The patrol will hold ten people very easily, and in a case of necessity 15 can be hauled. It weighs 4,500 pounds; has a top, brass railings and an electric headlight. It will also have an electric gong. After it has been painted a fiery red and a few changes made, it will be put into service, which will be in about three weeks.

The City Commissioners are well pleased with the patrol, and Mechanical Engineer F. F. Loomis, under whose personal supervision it was built, cannot be praised too highly. He is an electrical genius of rare ability. The body of the patrol was built by the Collins Buggy company, F. A. Collins, superintendent. Engineer Loomis informs THE DEMOCRAT that the new patrol is driven by two four-horse power electric motors, each capable of developing nearly 100 per cent. in excess of the rated power, making the total energy that can be developed to drive the vehicle upwards of sixteen horse power.

With the excellent facilities that are at hand for charging the storage batteries at the station-house, the new patrol ought to prove very economical.

Engineer Loomis estimates that the power is sufficient to drive the patrol, with good roads, at a speed of from 15 to 18 miles an hour. The batteries are capable of supplying energy for about a thirty mile run without recharging. One of the city officials estimates that the new patrol, new station house, and all the incidentals, will cost the city about $2,300. This first cost, it is claimed, will soon be more than offset by the considerably more economical operation of the new patrol system as compared with the old way.

The City Commissioners are united in the opinion that the new patrol system will be a splendid success.

on the case and descriptions of the murderer are being sent over the country.

Burial.

The remains of Joe Turner, who was murdered by Joe Wade, were buried in Glendale cemetery Friday.

LOVE

Laughed at Threats.

Northfield Young People Quietly Married

In Spite of Talk of Death and Paris Green.

Detective Burlison Has Found the Writer

Of the Malignant Letters at Northfield.

The marriage of Mr. Griffith G. Roberts, Jr., of Northfield, and Miss Sadie F. Smith, of Northampton, which was postponed two weeks ago, because the intended bride and groom had received threatening letters, hinting of bullets, Paris green and certain destruction, took place Thursday at the home of the groom. No more letters have been received by either of the young people since Detective Burlison discovered the identity of the writer.

According to Detective Burlison the author of the letters was a Northfield farm hand, who was infatuated by Miss Smith.

The case will be brought either to the attention of the next grand jury or the postal authorities.

The newly married couple is fearful that more letters will be received or that some attempt will be made to injure their property. Mr. Burlison apprehends nothing of the kind.

The groom resolved to go ahead with the marriage ceremony after concluding that nothing more was going to "turn up" in the case. According to the marriage certificate, Mr. Smith is 28; his bride, 20.

has been ordered to leave the place by unknown parties, who say they will kill him if he does not obey. He was given notice to this effect two weeks ago but has not complied with it. Now the owner of the house has been given similar orders. A few nights ago large stones were hurled through the windows of the house. Mr. Cryder became frightened and went with his family to neighbors for protection. He always carries a shot gun whenever he leaves the house to protect himself from receiving bodily injuries.

Detective Burlison is investigating the case.

LAST LINKS.

"GOOD SHOW"--The Harrison J. Wolfe company, presenting the tragic-romantic drama, "The Corsican Brothers," at the Grand Opera House Thursday night, is composed of good talent, giving Mr. Wolfe excellent support in his correct and feeling interpretation of leading roles. The scenic productions interspersed the plot with a realism that was indulgent and gratifying. Mr. Wolfe, in a certain speech, said that this play was proving a great success wherever shown, and was financially and otherwise a winner. He assured his Akron admirers that he would be here again. He will put on a $10,000 production of "Richard III" next season.
